

After work meeting

Equality and Growth

The Danish Economic Society and Copenhagen Economics are happy to invite to an after work meeting about Equality and Growth 5 November

Following the economic crisis, persistent high unemployment and low growth, in conjunction with indications of increased income inequality in a number of OECD countries, has triggered a discussion on various possible links between growth and equality:

Where do we have trade-offs and when will more equality boost growth?

You will meet

Christian Kastrop
OECD

Lars Haagen Pedersen
Ministry of Finance

The two presenters will provide a policy based perspective from both an international and Danish perspective, drawing on theory and facts and leading up to a discussion with the participants.

Thursday 5 November 2015 at 5:15 pm
CSS • University of Copenhagen, Øster Farimagsgade 5, 1014 CPH K
(Room 35.01.06, enter via Gammeltoftsgade 13)

Sandwiches and cold drinks are served from 4:30 pm. Participation is free of charge but requires registration to nof@nationalbanken.dk no later than 2 November

Key publications are available for download at copenhageneconomics.com/equality-and-growth

Christian Kastrop is Director of Policy Studies at the Economics Department of the OECD. He was formerly Deputy-Director General, Economics and Strategy Department and Director of Public Finance, Macroeconomics and Research Directorate in the Federal Ministry of Finance, Berlin, Germany. Christian Kastrop holds a ph.d. in economics.

Lars Haagen Pedersen is deputy permanent secretary at the Ministry of Finance. He is e.g. responsible for fiscal policy planning, the use of macroeconomic models and the effects of economic policy. Formerly, he has e.g. been at the Danish Economic Councils. Lars Haagen holds a ph.d. in economics.

NATIONALØKONOMISK FORENING
Danish Economic Society

